Summary:

Catherine is a specialist practitioner in Family Law with 24 years experience. Catherine represents clients in both private and public law children matters.

Public Law Children:

In relation to public law matters, she has worked for Local Authorities throughout the South Coast, parents, interveners, Guardians the O/S and separately represented children.

She has dealt with serious cases involving such issues as non-accidental injury, sexual abuse [historic and current] and factitious induced illness cases. Catherine has acted for interveners [family members or foster carers] who were in opposition to the local authority plans when that plan was for care orders/placement orders.

Private Law Children:

In relation to private law proceedings Catherine has dealt with all aspects but has a specific interest in removal from the jurisdiction. Most of the residence/contact applications have involved fact-finding hearings due to the history of alleged/domestic violence and alleged/sexual abuse.

Matrimonial Finance:

In financial cases, Catherine deals with disputes between married couples and unmarried couples, including cases with intervening family members.

Memberships:
